

PRE-GAME 8/3

Fresh off a 5-2 road trip, the New Jersey Jackals return to Little Falls tonight to square off with their Essex County rivals the Newark Bears in the opening game of a three-game set.

Hi everybody and welcome to Yogi Berra Stadium! He's Corey Scheiner, I'm Mia O'Brien, and this is Jackals Baseball in the month of August. Heading into their first home contest in this eighth month of the year, the Jackals have been red-hot, raising their team batting average to .295 line. A big reason for that increase has been 16 straight games against the fourth and fifth place Newark Bears and Worcester Tornadoes.

[COREY-RECAP OF WORCESTER]

STANDINGS

The Jackals look to pick up right where they left off against these Newark Bears, and they'll try to do that by sending to the hill the right-hander who was on the mound last Sunday when New Jersey beat the Bears, 10-4. That pitcher: Kyle Greenwalt.

[COREY- KYLE GREENWALT]

Opposing him is a newcomer for the Bears, Omar Javier.

[OMAR JAVIER—MIA]

LINEUP- JACKALS

LINEUP- NEWARK

It's the Route 3 series—Little Falls addition. Will the Jackals continue their torrid hitting? Or will a newcomer squash New Jersey's bid at a three-game win streak? First pitch comes up next.